Meet Tweed Main Street: A New Standard in Cannabis Variety

Access to multiple cannabis product offerings through single online store to transform market

March 29, 2017

SMITHS FALLS, ON – Canadian medical cannabis users are about to have a better way to shop for their medicine. Starting in early April, 2017, Tweed’s new online store, Tweed Main Street, will be the go-to place for the over 50,000 Canadians who are registered with Tweed Inc. (“Tweed”), Bedrocan Canada Inc. (“Bedrocan Canada”) and Mettrum Health Corp. (“Mettrum”), three of Canada’s most established cannabis brands.

Canopy Growth Corporation (TSX:WEED) (“Canopy Growth” or the “Company”) owns and operates all three companies (along with licensed producers Tweed Farms Inc. and Agripharm Corp.), which are individually licensed to produce and sell cannabis under Health Canada’s Access to Cannabis for Medical Purposes Regulations (ACMPR). Until now, customers have been required to choose a single producer, register with that producer and shop online based on that single producer’s availability. With the introduction of Tweed’s Tweed Main Street store, all our registered customers will now access the full product catalogues of three of the largest and most recognized producers in one convenient online location.

“We look at this as a transformative shift in the market,” said Mark Zekulin, President, Canopy Growth. “From doctors to patients to virtually every stakeholder in the sector, we have heard continually that variety, reliability and consistency, matched with high quality products and top customer care are essential. Bringing the sector’s three leading producers into a single online marketplace is the most important thing we can do to serve our clients.”

With many sector firsts, including the first public listing, the first diversified production platform, the first to introduce CFPC Mainpro accredited CMEs across Canada, the first to legally sell seeds for home-grow production, the first to export Canadian medical marijuana to Germany, and the establishment of Canopy Health Innovations to invest in clinical research, Canopy Growth has been leading the way forward in this exciting sector since day one. It is our privilege to introduce another first: serving tens of thousands of Canadians from a single legal access point, leveraging an unparalleled production platform and unwavering commitment to service, variety and product safety.

Here's to Future Growth.
